Great Smoky Mountains National Park

It's the most visited National Park in the United States. It's so big that scientists are still discovering some of the plant and animal species that live there. The park is home to more than 1,500 bears so keep your eyes open when hiking the Smoky Mountain trails. Nothing beats seeing a bear in the park, and there are plenty of other breathtaking sights here in the Smoky Mountains—waterfalls, winding valleys and century-old architecture.

Scenic Drives

Take a drive and feel your heart come alive.

There are three entrances to the Great Smoky Mountains National Park from Gatlinburg, and everyone takes you into a section of the 800 square miles of unspoiled Appalachia. Sweeping vistas, marching woodlands, tumbling streams and incredible cliff tops unfold as you wind your way along 400 miles of mountain roads. Smoky Mountain trails, scenic overlooks, Waterfalls and historic homesteads are everywhere. Loop roads hug the mountainsides before opening up onto breathtaking vistas. Whether you arrive during the rich green days of spring and summer, the crazy quilt of autumn color or the sparkling white of winter, your drive through the roads of Great Smoky Mountains National Park is guaranteed to be an adventure in itself.

Hikes & Waterfalls

Geologic formations and hiking trails.

The best way to experience the Smokies is to do what the original settlers and explorers did: hit the trails. From the original Appalachian Trail to breathtaking wildflower walks, there are 150 Smoky Mountain trails covering 800 miles of pristine backcountry. Waterfalls, wildlife, valleys and vistas are everywhere.

While hiking to Smoky Mountains’ waterfalls like Grotto, Laurel, Abrams and Rainbow is popular, the backcountry is even more amazing. You'll discover you're never too far from the sounds of rushing streams, babbling brooks or roaring cascades. Pull off your boots, cool your feet and breathe deep. Few things inspire like the songs of the streams and rays of light dancing on the mountain waters.

Here are a few highlights. Experienced campers and backcountry hikers can get more info about trekking the mountains here Read More »

Wildlife & Nature

Scenic drives and wildlife areas.

Undisturbed for over a million years.

Thousands of species of plant and animal life have been documented in the Smokies, and more are being discovered every year. Because the last Ice Age didn't get this far south, and the sea never came this far inland, flora and fauna have been thriving and diversifying here for millennia. Black bears and wildflower blooms are only the beginning when you adventure into one of the world's few International Biosphere Reserves. Bring your binoculars and enjoy the show.
Outdoorsman's Guide

The Gatlinburg area is an outdoorsman’s paradise tucked away in the Smoky Mountains. This recreational retreat just minutes away from Great Smoky Mountains National Park offers world-class hiking, white water rafting and terrific trout streams. And that’s saying nothing of the prime bicycling, horseback riding, winter sports and other fun family outdoor activities you’ll find here as well. At the end of the day you can settle into a cozy mountain cabin, luxurious lodge or extend your outdoor time at a campsite. Read below to see why Gatlinburg is the perfect basecamp for fun and adventure in the Smokies.

Hiking

The mountains and valleys are laced with 800 miles of hiking trails in Great Smoky Mountains National Park. Hiking in the Smokies offers everything from a leisurely walk among the wildflowers to a backcountry climb up a rocky outcropping, so there are trails for hikers of every fitness and skill level.

You can set out right from Gatlinburg or drive to well-marked trailheads off the Park’s scenic, winding roads and disappear into the backcountry.

Disappear into diverse forestlands, climb to a breathtaking views or pull off your boots and cool your feet in streams rushing down the mountainsides and along the trails. Waterfalls gurgle, sing and roar.

Back in town, there are plenty of outfitters to get you ready for hiking in the Smokies backcountry. Guided Nature Services are available for those looking for a more educational and in-depth look at the Smoky Mountains. Visitor centers are stocked with maps and information, like this one from the National Park Service. Or start here with a few favorites.
Fishing

From the Little Pigeon River running right through Gatlinburg to the swift streams of the backcountry, there are plenty of places to drop a line or cast a fly. The Smokies have hundreds of miles of streams teeming with trout, including beautiful brook trout, which have been successfully returned to their natural habitat. Fishing is permitted year 'round in the Park, and there are several full service fishing outfitters in downtown Gatlinburg.

Some favorite spots include Greenbrier, Little River and Abrams Creek. Or hire a guide and head to a little-known spot in the backcountry. Or, grab your fishing pole and head downtown.

Whitewater Rafting

There are miles of Class III and IV rapids on the Big Pigeon River and other regional rivers, and several oufitters are ready to help you plan anything from a nice float trip to wildwater adventure. With names like "Too Late," "Vegamatic," "Razor Blade," "After Shave," and "Lost Guide," you know the rapids are rockin' in the Smokies.

Ziplining

Experience your canopy adventure in downtown Gatlinburg with one of the most fun family outdoor activities you'll find anywhere. If you've been waiting to try ziplining or are ready to go again, outfitters can hook you up to some of the wildest rides in the Smokies. Fly under the forest roof and over streams and valleys by the seat of your pants at 50 miles an hour.

Winter Sports

Welcome to Tennessee's one and only ski resort. Using a combination of natural and man-made snow, Ober Gatlinburg has eight slopes, from bunny hills for beginners to fast runs for serious skiers. Snowboarders, bring it on. There is a 10-lane snow tubing park in wintertime and an alpine slide anytime. There's also an indoor ice-skating rink. Even if you don't ski or skate, the view is awesome from the Ober Gatlinburg restaurant.

Bicycling

Bring your bike or rent one at Cades Cove and head out for a great ride on the 11 mile Loop Road. Dismount and explore the historic buildings. See whitetailed deer or experience a black bear sighting. If you plan for a Wednesday or Sunday morning ride, you'll share the road with pedestrians and cyclists only, because the Loop is closed to motor traffic until 10:00am.

Birdwatching

More than 200 species of birds have been spotted in the Smokies, and at least half that many are known to breed. Whether you take a wooded walk on an easy trail or head out for some serious backcountry hiking in the Smokies, listen and keep your eyes open for everything from songbirds to screech owls in the trees and valleys. There are wild bird habitats at every elevation, and many birds make the Smokies a stop on their yearly migrations.

Horseback Riding

Head to Smoky Mountain Stables or Sugarlands Riding Stables and mount up for a guided, backcountry excursion. Bring the kids, and ride out to see wild turkeys, a herd of wild deer or even black bear climbing a tree. There are miles and miles of trails open to riding in the Park. Own your own horses? There are five drive-in horse camps, too.
The Great Smoky Mountains Arts and Crafts Community located near downtown includes the largest group of independent artisans in North America, with shops and galleries along the famous 8-mile Arts and Crafts Loop. Over 100 whittlers, woodworkers, painters, potters, quilters, candlemakers and basketweavers practice the creation of authentic Appalachian art as it has been done for generations.

The Arts and Crafts Loop

Made in Gatlinburg.

If it can be whittled, woven, painted, sewn, spun, cast, or carved, you'll find it on this 8-mile loop of quaint shops and studios. Hop a trolley or take the short drive from downtown Gatlinburg to the home of the largest group of independent artisans in North America. See authentic Appalachian art and handicrafts being created in the studios and workshops. Take home something that's beautiful, useful - or as is often not the case with mountain handiwork - both.

Make a day of it. There are neat places to eat, stroll and shop all along the A & C Loop. Over a hundred artists and craftspeople are proud to display and sell their original collectibles, including candles, baskets, quilts, brooms, pottery, jewelry, dolls, ceramics, scrimshaw, silver, leather, stained glass, wearable fashions, fine photography, framable art, oils and watercolors and other Smoky Mountain arts and crafts.

Arrowmont School of Arts and Crafts

The oldest craft school in Tennessee.

Artists and students from around the world come to Arrowmont for workshops in painting, woodworking, glassblowing, photography, basket weaving and metalworking. It's also home to the oldest buildings in Gatlinburg and features five galleries showing work from local, national and international artists.
Outlet Shopping in Sevierville

Sevierville is famous for shopping. Two of the largest outlet malls in the area are located in Sevierville totaling over 120 high-end, name brand outlets. There are also a variety of galleries, antique malls, boutiques, specialty stores, flea markets, outdoor stores and more – which means you can find just about anything in our stores. Tanger Outlets

Downtown Gatlinburg Shops and Galleries

Whether you decide to stay in one of the most beautiful mountain towns around or explore the most-visited national park in America, Gatlinburg is your basecamp for charming getaways and fun adventures in the Smokies.

Downtown Bound

Park once and hit the streets.

Take a sidewalk stroll to amazing attractions, shops and restaurants or escape into the Great Smoky Mountains National Park right from downtown. Book a Gatlinburg cabin or hotel room on the Little Pigeon River. Pack a picnic or grab a table at one of many great places to eat. Take to the air on the tram, chairlift or zipline. Family fun and outdoor adventure are everywhere. Read More »

Attractions

We have a few neighbors who are as welcoming as we are, all within a short drive of downtown Gatlinburg. Plan a day trip to a casino, Dollywood or one of the shows in Pigeon Forge.

Regional Attractions

The Gatlinburg area is one of the most popular places to visit in Tennessee, but we can’t take all the credit. The whole region is packed with sights and entertainment for children and adults alike, making for easy day trips from your home base in Gatlinburg. Head to a theme park, catch a sporting event, tour a mansion or enjoy a live show and be back in Gatlinburg in time for dinner. Read on to learn about the most popular regional attractions.

Good neighbors

Not only is Gatlinburg your basecamp for fun and adventure in the Smokies, it’s also centrally located to three other mountain hotspots, making a daytrip to more mountain attractions just a short drive from downtown. Pigeon Forge is a little ways up the road, with theatres, shows and unusual attractions for the whole family. Dollywood is one of the top Pigeon Forge attractions, with 150 acres of rides, fun and history. And if you’re feeling lucky, take a drive through Great Smoky Mountains National Park to Cherokee and the casino. Check out these interesting places to visit in Tennessee below.

Hello, Dollywood!

Just a short drive from downtown Gatlinburg is the one-and-only Dollywood. The rides are wild, and the music never ends in this incredible 150-acre theme park in nearby Pigeon Forge. New for 2012 is the $20 million Wild Eagle roller coaster, the first steel wing roller coaster in America. In addition to the incredible rides and shows, there’s also Dollywood’s Splash Country Water Adventure Park. Over 2.5 million visitors a year come to Dollywood, making it one of the most popular places to visit in Tennessee. It’s only 13 minutes away. Directions are here. There’s more about Dollywood here and Dollywood’s Splash Country here.

Dinner shows, Dixie Stampede

There are lots of fun dinner shows in the Smoky Mountains area including Dolly Parton’s Dixie Stampede, Great Smoky Mountain Murder Mystery Show and Lumberjack Feud, to name just to name a few. They include things like a friendly North/South rivalry... featuring 32 magnificent horses while feasting on a four-course meal, a story about two embattled local logging families as the timber industry is shut down by the announcement of the National Park, and side-splitting comedy shows such as Whodunit Lucy, Murder on the American Idle and Frankly Scarlett your Dead with a four-course meal to “die” for.

It's showtime

Depending on the direction you're coming to the Smokies from, you might pass through our neighbor, Pigeon Forge, on your way to downtown Gatlinburg and Great Smoky Mountains National Park. It's almost always showtime in Pigeon Forge, with about a dozen theaters presenting as many as 20 shows daily. There are concerts, musicals, variety shows, comedy and magic, making it one of the most entertaining places to visit in Tennessee. Whether you love Broadway, country, rock, gospel or plain old humor, there's a curtain going up on a big performance every night in Pigeon Forge. Attractions in the area include The Old Mill, which still churns out meal and flour powered by its big, old waterwheel on the Little Pigeon River.

Titanic Pigeon Forge

It's been 100 years since the HMS Titanic's maiden voyage ended, but her legacy lives on at the Titanic Museum Attraction just up the road in Pigeon Forge. Book your passage and receive your own boarding pass for this interactive experience which pays homage to one of the most famous ships in history and allows you to step back in history.

Grownup games are a short drive away

On the North Carolina side of Great Smoky Mountains National Park is the Cherokee Indian Reservation, a scenic hour-plus drive from downtown Gatlinburg. It is home to Harrah's Cherokee Casino. Cherokee is rich in Native American history and home to many of the 13,000 enrolled members of the Cherokee Tribe. It includes 56,000 acres along what is called the Qualla Boundary. Harrah's in Cherokee is the most-visited destination in North Carolina.

Cherokee, North Carolina

What is now Western North Carolina has been part of the homeland of the Cherokee people for centuries. Today's Eastern Band members are direct descendants of those who avoided the Cherokees’ forced removal to Oklahoma in the 1830’s the “Trail of Tears.” Their home city adjacent to Great Smoky Mountains National Park allows you to walk back in time. Cherokee is also home to North Carolina’s largest tourist attraction & Harrah's Cherokee Casino and Hotel.

Bristol Motor Speedway

Planning to be a part of the crowd at the next big Bristol Motor Speedway event? Since we’re just a short drive away from the track, Gatlinburg is the perfect locale to get ready for the big race beforehand or escape to afterward. Once you’ve joined up to 160,000 of your best friends for a few action-packed hours, it's always good to work in a little bit of the quiet and tranquility that a vacation in the heart of the Smoky Mountains can provide.

University of Tennessee Sports

Kickoff on the gridiron at Neyland Stadium. Tipoff at Thompson Boling Area, featuring action on the hardwood of The Summit. If catching the Big Orange this season is in your plans, it makes sense to make a vacation of it by staying the night just up the road in Gatlinburg. There’s no better place on Earth than the Smokies on a fall weekend or during the heat of basketball season.

Biltmore Estate

Completed in 1895, George Vanderbilt's 250-room chateau is as impressive today as it was more than a century ago. Biltmore House is truly an architectural and historical wonder and it's located in Asheville, N.C., just a short day trip from Gatlinburg. See the enormous home, walk the grounds and view the beauty of this classic American estate.
