

Scott Hetzer is an avid fly angler and tyer. He has spent the last decade being obsessed with trout and their insect counterparts. Born in the city of Richmond, he was referred to by his family as the 'avid indoorsman,' however after transplanting to Hot Springs, became engrossed in the natural beauty of the Allegheny Mountains. There he worked as an Orvis-endorsed guide, and truly began to set the path in which his life would follow. Having graduated as a guide, he now owns and operates a small fly company, Eclipse Fly Co., where he sells premium trout patterns (and hopefully more as he grows!)

Scott is doing a fly-tying demo as well as guiding during the festival!
